

Edge provides services that oversee the implementation and ongoing management of your energy procurement strategy. The key areas of our management services include; portfolio snapshot reporting, contract management, agreement negotiation, and energy market reporting.

Portfolio Snapshot

The portfolio snapshot is a report linked to individual or multiple sites, that provides you with specific information about your energy usage and costs. It also contains an overview of current and historical invoicing for further cost analysis. These comprehensive snapshot reports mean you'll always be able to make informed decisions about your portfolio.

Your snapshot will include;

Consumption Tracking

Daily data collection means we can establish a realistic picture of your energy portfolio. The monthly snapshot enables you to track your consumption and adjust usage if required. These snapshots also hold historical consumption information which provides valuable insight for future planning and forecasting.

Invoice Reconciliation

You'll only pay agreed amounts for energy you have consumed with our invoice reconciliation service. We use independent consumption and cost data to calculate expected costs and compare this to your invoices. We'll investigate and deal directly with your retailer if you've been overcharged. You won't be left out of pocket with this analysis completed prior to payment.

Accruals

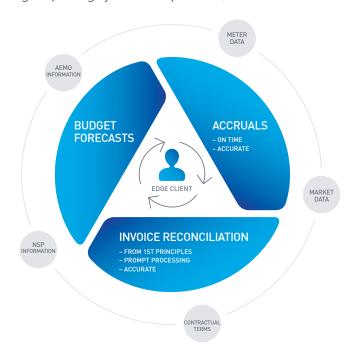

Provide your finance team with an accurate indication of what your energy spend will be before you receive the retailer invoice. Our accruals reporting allows you to accrue for electricity costs at each month end (issues 2-3 days prior to month end or as otherwise requested by you).

Forecasting/Budgeting

Your snapshot also provides you with forecast cost and consumption information. Full year data can enable you to create a realistic picture of your portfolio behaviours for analysis and modification if required.

WE SAW THAT STANDARD REPORTING SYSTEMS OFFERED LIMITED BENEFITS TO OUR CUSTOMERS. SO WE BUILT OUR OWN.

Edge reporting systems are powerful, accurate and flexible.

Gas Overrun Analysis

Portfolio management allows us to see trends as they develop in your portfolio. Regular overruns may mean it's time for a review of your consumption and contract MDQ, with potential variation to your agreement. Reducing overruns through adjusting MDQ or demand can potentially unlock significant value.

Contract Management – Key Dates and Notifications

There are certain obligations with energy contracts that need to be met by both the retailer and the customer. It can mean considerable cost for your business if specific key dates and notifications aren't met. We record all obligations and provide reminders and assistance to meet these by due dates.

Negotiate Third-Party Gas Agreements

There could be times where your contracted gas supply is more, or less than what you need. It may be beneficial at these times to make oneoff contractual arrangements to sell surplus gas, or purchase additional supply. As part of our management services, we handle all negotiation of third-party agreements to ensure unforeseen consumption changes don't affect the cash flow of your business.

Energy Market Reporting

Be the first to receive energy market news and analysis with our reporting services. Edge's energy specialists are in regular contact with industry counterparts and are experts in determining how market news and movements will impact your business.
