Maximise your energy with Edge.

We've been developing innovative and tailored solutions for Australian energy users for more than a decade. From procurement to ongoing management of energy supply, we have provided solutions that deliver real value and significant savings to our clients.

Our independent expertise spans the entire energy supply chain. Edge can secure physical connections, support infrastructure development, manage factors that drive up energy costs, and expertly negotiate electricity and gas sale agreements.

Staying ahead of new technologies is one way we maintain momentum in a changing market. Focus has turned to renewable generation and we view the progress of renewable projects as a positive step for the market and consumers. Sophisticated energy users need diversification in their energy portfolio, and generation from renewable projects can provide this. We have established ourselves in the market to play a pivotal role in matching credible projects with suitable consumers.

For SME's and smaller commercial and industrial businesses, the right energy fit is a big deal too. It's critical to your bottom line and your operational effectiveness. But finding a better deal in an energy market that is complex and constantly changing can be difficult. That's why we've brought Edge Utilities to the market. An efficient and streamlined online service supported by the knowledge and sophistication applied to our largest and most complex energy users.
